ACCESSING PRIVATE LAND - IT'S A PRIVILEGE.

Of the 21+ million acres in Maine, approximately 10 million acres in northern, western and eastern Maine are owned and managed by various corporations or individuals. Practically all of these acres are open to the public for outdoor recreation.

We ALL owe these major landowners a big "thank you" for being able to use and enjoy their property. Many of these landowners have specific policies and rules on the operation of recreational vehicles on their lands. Please respect these landowners by abiding by any and all rules and policies.

No matter what outdoor recreational activity you participate in, take the time to ask permission of the landowners. Working with landowners is the most important way to ensure the future of outdoor recreation in Maine.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

With its vast wilderness and thousands of miles of trails, Maine's outdoors is a destination for both snowmobile riders and all-terrain vehicle riders like yourself who enjoy the great outdoors and the wide open spaces. Thanks for choosing Maine and for registering your snowmobile and/or your ATV here. Your registrations provide funding to the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and the Bureau of Parks and Lands to maintain trails and provide law enforcement to assure your ride is enjoyable and safe.

New Pic to come?

Landowners also play a vital role in our state's trail system. Without their generous gestures of opening up their land to the sport, there would be disconnects in the system. We are ever grateful for their willingness to partner with the State – it is this partnership that provides for some of the best snowmobile riding in the United States. We urge you to be respectful of both the public and private property you're riding on. Follow the rules, and thank landowners for being such strong supporters of the sport.

Thanks for being a responsible rider, and keeping Maine's trails safe for all levels of riders!

Paul R. LePage
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMISSIONER

Whether you regularly ride in Maine or if you're just here for a few days of fun, thanks for choosing to ride in our great state. We'll do our best to make sure you enjoy it!

This law book is the first to combine the laws and regulations of both snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles. While the primary purpose was to save printing costs, we realized that many who snowmobile also ride ATV's, and a combination book would be a handy convenience.

Being safe is everyone's responsibility. Wear a helmet - It could save a life. Also, before each ride, let someone know where you're going, and when you plan to return. Carry an emergency preparedness kit, don't drink and drive, and make sure your speed is reasonable for conditions.

Ride safe, ride smart, and we hope you enjoy the activities associated with both snowmobiling and ATV riding in Maine's beautiful outdoors!

Chandler Woodcock
Commissioner

ATVs in Maine

A new way to get through Maine's woods

Warden John MacDonald

Each year, Maine Game Wardens interact with thousands of outdoor enthusiasts from trappers and anglers to ATV and snowmobile riders. As registration trends continue to increase and trail systems both increase and improve for ATVs, the amount of inspections will likely increase proportionally.

Game Wardens are essentially the front door for the Bureau of Warden Service and often provide the only opportunity for sportspeople to engage in conversations with an IF&W employee. Inspections are critical to the mission of the Warden Service for both public relations and enforcement purposes. Both share an equally important role for the future of the bureau.

Game Wardens regularly inspect ATVs for safety and registration compliance. Wardens also stop motor vehicles at fish and wildlife checkpoints used for gathering statistics and enforcing fish and wildlife laws. In addition, Game Wardens have authority to stop motor vehicles for violations observed on Maine's highways.

A Game Warden may perform a stop of the above vehicles either by signaling you to stop with an obvious body gesture or with the use of emergency blue lights and/or siren. Game Wardens will make themselves known by identifying themselves while in uniform or by providing a badge or State law enforcement officer credential. When signaled to stop by a Game Warden please do the following:

- As soon as safely possible, bring your vehicle to a complete stop and allow the Game

Warden to approach you. Failure to stop for a Game Warden may result in criminal prosecution, significant fines, and arrest.

- Be courteous and follow any directions given by the Game Warden pertaining to the recreational vehicle inspection. Your cooperation will expedite the inspection process and we will have you back on your way as quickly as possible.

Game Wardens prefer that each interaction with an outdoor enthusiast is a pleasant experience. Please be polite and courteous. Take advantage of the opportunity to ask the Game Warden for advice or valuable tips.

ATV registrations are clearly trending toward higher numbers. In 2003 there was a peak of over 66,000 registrations in Maine. With the exception of that year, ATV registrations have shown a steady increase since 1998. The registration trend can likely be attributed to both the ability of four-season riding and the continuing effort to make and maintain good quality ATV designated trails. Additionally, ATV models have become very user specific. Some are now equipped with tracks for snow, camouflage for hunting, and two or four passenger versions for longer, more comfortable trail riding.

A significant amount of effort has been placed on ATV law enforcement by Maine Game Wardens. Landowner complaints coupled with increasing registrations created a situation in the late 1990's in which the Warden Service had to re-evaluate its law enforcement presence and approach regarding ATVs. Many Game Wardens now have ATVs issued to them to assist in patrol. Funding has been secured in recent years to pay for special enforcement details to help combat localized areas of complaints. These details allow Wardens to focus specifically on ATV issues and have become an important factor in reducing complaints from the public regarding ATVs.

Trail systems have continued to grow and landowner cooperation is becoming easier for ATV clubs to use and maintain trail systems in many areas of Maine. The trails have provided a completely new adventure for the ATV rider, allowing clear access and hundreds of miles of riding opportunities. Game Wardens continue to respond to ATV crashes that involve either property damage, personal injury or in some cases death. Wardens are responsible for investigating ATV crashes to gather crash statistics and determine if violations of law have occurred that may have contributed to the crash. Drunk driving continues to be a contributing factor in many ATV rider fatalities. Always use good common sense, never operate beyond your abilities, and never drink and drive.

» All-Terrain Vehicle (ATV)

Laws and Rules

Before you start the ignition on that ATV, pause for a moment and think of where you will be riding.

Chances are, you will be riding on private land.

Just how you operate the ATV while you are on private land is the key to Maine's outdoor future.

Maine is a unique state, with over 17 million acres of forest. Maine is nearly larger than all the other New England states combined.

Yet over 90% of Maine is privately owned, and nearly all of Maine's ATV trails are on private land.

How you conduct yourself while riding on private land impacts whether that land remains open and accessible. Maine is fortunate in that most private landowners allow public access. Public access is the key to outdoor recreation in Maine, no matter if it is ATV riding, hunting, fishing or even wildlife watching. Without access, many of these Maine traditions would slowly fade away.

Good landowner relations begins with you. Please ride respectfully, and stay on marked trails. Make sure that you have landowner permission before riding anywhere off trail. Respect all laws and the environment. Be considerate of others on the road and off the road. Do your part and not only pack out your trash, but bring a bag and pack out other trash.

Remember, unless you are riding on a designated ATV trail, Maine law requires that ATV operators receive permission before riding on the land of another. Written permission by the owner is needed before you ride on cropland or pastures.

Access is the key to unlocking Maine's outdoors, so before you start your ATV ride, please remember that your actions can impact future access for everyone. Please ride respectfully.

TITLE 12, CHAPTER 933

§13001 – Definitions.

As used in this subpart, unless the context otherwise indicates, the following terms have the following meanings.

Accompanied by adult.

"Accompanied by an adult" means, with respect to operation of an ATV, within visual and voice contact and under the effective control of a child's parent or guardian or another person 21 years of age or older.

All-terrain vehicle or ATV. "All-terrain vehicle" or "ATV" means a motor-driven, off-road, recreational vehicle capable of cross-country travel on land, snow, ice, marsh, swampland or other natural terrain. "All-terrain vehicle" or "ATV" includes, but is not limited to, a multitrack, multiwheel or low-pressure tire vehicle; a motorcycle or related 2-wheel, 3-wheel or belt-driven vehicle; an amphibious machine; or other means of transportation deriving motive power from a source other than muscle or wind. For purposes of this subpart, "all-terrain vehicle" or "ATV" does not include an automobile as defined in Title 29-A, section 101, subsection 7; an electric personal assistive mobility device as defined in Title 29-A, section 101, subsection 22-A; a truck as defined in Title 29-A, section 101, subsection 88; a snowmobile; an airmobile; a construction or logging vehicle used in performance of its common functions; a farm vehicle used for farming purposes; or a vehicle used exclusively for emergency, military, law enforcement or fire control purposes.

Alpine tundra. "Alpine tundra" means high elevation, treeless areas beyond the timberline that are dominated by low herbaceous or shrubby vegetation and, specifically, areas that are designated as alpine tundra by the Department of Conservation by rule pursuant to Title 5, chapter 375, subchapter 2.

Dwelling. "Dwelling" means any building used as a permanent residence or place of domicile.

Freshwater marshes and bogs. "Freshwater marshes and bogs" means naturally occurring open areas with saturated soils or peat, often associated with standing water and dominated by low herbaceous vegetation, grasses, weeds and shrubs and including wetlands, as shown on the Freshwater Wetlands Map Series, Bureau of Geology and Natural Areas, Maine Geological Survey, or zoned as a Wetland Protection Subdistrict, P-WL, by the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission.

Operate. "To operate," in all its moods and tenses, when it refers to an ATV, means to use an ATV in any manner within the jurisdiction of the State, whether or not the vehicle is moving.

Notwithstanding paragraphs A to G, an ATV may be operated on the extreme right of a public way, or as directed by the appropriate governmental unit within the public way, of a municipality or an unorganized or unincorporated township if the appropriate governmental unit has designated the public way as an ATV-access route. A public way designated by an appropriate governmental unit as an ATV-access route must be posted conspicuously at regular intervals by that governmental unit with highly visible signs designating the ATV-access route. An ATV must travel in the same direction as motor vehicle traffic on a public way designated as an ATV access route. Before designating a public way as an ATV-access route, the appropriate governmental unit shall make appropriate determinations that ATV travel on the extreme right of the public way, or as directed by the appropriate governmental unit within the public way, may be conducted safely and will not interfere with vehicular traffic on the public way. For purposes of this paragraph, "appropriate governmental unit" means the Department of Transportation, county commissioners or municipal officers within their respective jurisdictions. # Snowmobiling in Maine

A fun way to explore Maine's winters

Warden John MacDonald

Each year, Maine Game Wardens interact with thousands of outdoor enthusiasts from hunters and anglers to ATV and snowmobile riders. An average of 135,000 inspections are made every year. Inspection numbers sometimes fluctuate depending upon weather conditions and special enforcement efforts. Inspections are often proportionally related to snow depths found across the state each year. Northern and Western portions of Maine consistently receive moderate amounts of snow, often totaling well over 150 inches each year. When southern Maine finds itself in a light snow year, registrations will often be fewer as well. Non-residents from all over New England choose Maine as their favorite place to ride. Maine offers over 13,500 miles of groomed trails that interconnect to nearly all corners of the State. Registration totals have fluctuated between a low of 75,235 in 2005 to a high of 107,285 in 2002. That is a difference of over 32,000 registrations in just 3 years.

Yearly snowmobile crash totals can fluctuate dramatically depending upon snow depth. To help reduce the amount of snowmobile crashes and provide a safe sport for approximately 100,000 snowmobiling enthusiasts, Maine Game Wardens make snowmobile law enforcement one of their highest priorities during the winter, dedicating thousands of hours toward law enforcement and education. Wardens work from their snowmobiles, at trail crossings, and at snowmobile club meetings to help ensure snowmobile law compliance.

Game Wardens are essentially the front door for the Bureau of Warden Service and often provide the only opportunity for sportspeople to engage in conversations with an IF&W employee. Inspections are critical to the mission of the Warden Service for both public relations and enforcement purposes. Both share an equally important role for the future of the bureau. Game Wardens regularly inspect snowmobiles for safety and registration compliance. Wardens also stop vehicles at fish and wildlife checkpoints used for gathering statistics and enforcing fish and wildlife laws. In addition, Game Wardens have authority to stop motor vehicles for violations observed on Maine's highways.

A Game Warden may perform a stop of the above vehicles either by signaling you to stop with an obvious body gesture or with the use of emergency blue lights and/or siren. Game Wardens will make themselves known by identifying themselves while in uniform or by providing a badge or State law enforcement officer credential. When signaled to stop by a Game Warden please do as follows:

- As soon as safely possible, bring your snowmobile to a complete stop and allow the Game Warden to approach you. Failure to stop for a Game Warden may result in criminal prosecution, significant fines, and arrest.

Wardens are responsible for more than 13,500 miles of trails throughout the state.

Maine's Game Wardens conduct a registration and safety check on one of the state's trails. Maine Wardens make over 135,000 inspections each year.

“ Maine Game Wardens make snowmobile law enforcement one of their highest priorities during the winter, dedicating thousands of hours toward law enforcement and education. ”

- Be courteous and follow any directions given by the Game Warden pertaining to the inspection. Your cooperation will expedite the inspection process and we will have you back on your way as quickly as possible.

Game Wardens prefer that each interaction with an outdoor enthusiast is a pleasant experience. Please be polite and courteous. By promptly complying with all requests as directed by the Game Warden, you can help ensure a safe, pleasant, and productive experience. Take advantage of the opportunity to ask the Game Warden for advice or valuable tips.

Landowner relations are essential to Maine's snowmobiling industry. A substantial portion of Maine's snowmobile trail system is located on privately owned land. Without landowner support and generosity, our trail system would be in serious jeopardy. Treat land with respect, operate at prudent speeds, and maintain the original exhaust system on your snowmobile; loud exhausts close trails!

Game Wardens continue to respond to snowmobile crashes that involve either property damage, personal injury or in some cases death. Wardens are responsible for investigating snowmobile crashes to gather statistics and determine if violations of law have occurred that may have contributed to the crash. Drunk driving continues to be a contributing factor in many snowmobile related crashes. Always use good common sense, never operate beyond your abilities, tell someone where you plan to ride and when you will return, and never drink and drive.

Laws and Rules

Snowmobiling is a wonderful way to enjoy Maine's winter. There are thousands of miles of trails that reach across the length and breadth of the state.

But while you look ahead to where you are traveling, please also consider the land that you are traveling over. Most likely, you are traveling over private land.

Over 90% of Maine is privately owned, and most of Maine's snowmobile trails travel over private land.

Snowmobile clubs work hard with landowners in order to create a network of trails that provide plenty of riding opportunities. How you conduct yourself while riding on private land will go a long way to keeping that trail open.

Unfortunately, each year, many clubs are faced with sections of trail that become closed due to improper behavior by a small minority of riders. Clubs must reroute trails, gaining access to new trails by knocking on doors to seek permission from landowners.

You can help keep our current trail system intact by acting appropriately while riding. Always stay on marked trails. Do not leave any litter behind, and please treat the landowner and the land with respect. Riding off the trail system requires landowner permission. Please ask first, rather than being asked to leave.

Access to private land is the key not only to snowmobiling, but Maine's outdoor future as well. So before you start your winter ride, please remember that your actions can impact future access for everyone. Please ride respectfully.

B. A registration is not required for a snowmobile operated by a commercial ski area for the purpose of packing snow or for rescue operations thereon, unless the snowmobile is required to cross a public way during that operation.

C. Snowmobiles owned and operated in this State by the Federal Government, the State or political subdivision of the State are exempt from registration fees, but must be registered.

An event or festival organizer must submit a request in writing to the commissioner at least 60 days prior to the event or festival and shall include a map of trails where operation will be allowed.

D. Snowmobiles may be operated, without registration, at demonstration events approved by the Commissioner. For more info, contact the Department.

Reimbursement for grooming and maintenance services on these trails may be through direct cash payments by users of the Maine-New Hampshire Cooperative Trails or through in-kind services. The costs of grooming and maintenance must be based on the average per mile costs to Maine and New Hampshire of providing these services.

Signs on Maine-New Hampshire Cooperative Trails.

C. An agent is delinquent if that agent fails to forward to the commissioner funds collected by that agent by the date established in rules adopted under this subsection. Failure to remit the funds as provided in this subsection results in the following sanctions, in addition to any other provided by law.

- (1) The commissioner shall charge interest on the amount owed at the rate of 18% a year for each day the agent is delinquent.
- (2) If the agent has not paid the amount owed by the 60th day after the agent becomes delinquent, the commissioner shall assess a surcharge of 5% of the principal amount owed.

- (3) If an agent is delinquent for more than 150 days or is delinquent 3 or more times in one year, the commissioner shall:
  - (a) Terminate the agency for the balance of the year; and

An agent may not issue a resident snowmobile registration to a nonresident or a nonresident snowmobile registration to a resident.

§13106-A – Operation of snowmobile

1. No permission given. This chapter does not give license or permission to cross or go on the property of another.

For purposes of this paragraph, "appropriate governmental unit" means the Department of Transportation, county commissioners or municipal officers within their respective jurisdictions. The jurisdiction of each appropriate governmental unit over public ways pursuant to this paragraph is the same as its jurisdiction over the passage of vehicles on public ways pursuant to Title 29-A, section 2395. ## WHAT WE DO WHEN NO ONE IS WATCHING

The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife encourages all land users to voluntarily seek permission whenever possible. In turn, the Outdoor Partners landowner relations program would ask all landowners to consider using the courtesy card system.

Land user's respect for the property rights of the landowner will lead to positive and cooperative relations—and a positive, productive experience. It's not only courtesy — it's the right thing to do.

ATV & SNOWMOBILE SAFETY

Taking a ride on an ATV, UTV or snowmobile is a great way to be active and enjoy the beautiful Maine outdoors. Following safety precautions, rules and common sense are necessary ways to ensure your ride on one of these machines is as safe as it is fun.

ATVs and UTVs are intended for off-road use and may be difficult to control on pavement and other surfaces. Different ATV models handle differently so it's important to familiarize yourself with each machine you ride by reading the owner's manual and following the safety, maintenance and operational guidelines.

Because ATVs can cause serious injuries if used improperly, riders should also know their own abilities and limitations and never overdrive their machine just to keep up with others or impress someone.

If you have a youngster who is going to operate or ride on an ATV, they should be supervised at all times by an adult. Attending a safety course will provide the youngster with a wealth of knowledge. While a child may be the recommended age to operate an ATV, the supervising adult needs to take the youngster's strength, skills and judgment into consideration when deciding if they are fit to ride.

Having a pre-ride safety checklist is a good idea for all riders and includes checking the mechanical condition of the machine and making sure you have spare parts, survival items and personal items needed for safety and comfort.

Riders should also leave a trip plan with someone else that lists their destination, travel times, contact information and anything else that could aid in finding a rider who gets lost or injured.

When it comes to snowmobiling, the safest rule is to never cross lakes or rivers, since doing so puts you at risk of plunging through the ice. If you decide to snowmobile on ice, make sure the ice is safely frozen and only trust your own judgment.

Drowning is a leading cause of snowmobile fatalities so buying a buoyant snowmobile suit could be a life-saving decision. If you do go through the ice, your helmet and snowmobile suit, even if it's non-buoyant, may keep you afloat for several minutes. Try sliding back onto the ice, using anything sharp to dig in for pull. Kicking your feet like a seal can help propel you onto the ice.

If the ice keeps breaking, continue moving toward the shore or the direction from which you came. Don't remove your gloves or mitts. Once on the ice, you should roll away from the hole, making sure not to stand up until you are well away from it.

Snowmobile operators should also always know the area they ride in, ride at safe speeds, signal their riding intentions, watch for other snowmobilers and never operate under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

Always remember: ATVs, UTVs and snowmobiles are not toys, so taking these precautions can mean the difference between an enjoyable time and a dangerous one.

4. Limitations on section. This section shall not limit the liability which would otherwise exist:
  - A. For a willful or malicious failure to guard or to warn against a dangerous condition, use, structure or activity;

  - C. For an injury caused, by acts of persons to whom permission to pursue any recreational or harvesting activities was granted, to other persons to whom the person granting permission, or the owner, lessee, manager, holder or an easement or occupant of the premises, owed a duty to keep the premises safe or to warn of danger.
5. Nothing in this section shall create a duty of care or ground of liability for injury to a person or property.
6. The court shall award any direct legal costs, including reasonable attorney's fees, to an owner, lessee, manager, holder of an easement or occupant who is found not to be liable for injury to a person or property pursuant to this section.

ATV SAFETY INFORMATION

If you have a youngster who is about to ride an ATV, there are special considerations that you should keep in mind. Although a child may be the recommended age to ride a particular size ATV, not all youngsters have the strength, skills, or judgment needed to operate an ATV. You should supervise your youngster's operation of the ATV at all times, and should permit continued use only if you determine that your youngster has the ability and judgment to operate the ATV safely. You should also read Parents, Youngsters and ATVs, available from ASI.

For more information about ATV Safety, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission at 1-800-638-2772 or the ATV Distributors' Safety Hotline at 1-800-852-5344.

Remember that riders under 16 years of age should be supervised by an adult. In addition, follow the ATV Model Size/Minimum Age information listed below. Do not ride an ATV that is not recommended for your age group.

ATV Model Size ..... Minimum Age
Under 70cc ..... 6 years and older
70 - 90cc ..... 12 years and older
Over 90cc ..... 16 years and older

Be Cautious... ATVs are not toys. Serious injury can result from improper use of ATVs, but with preparation and practice, you can safely develop and expand your riding skills. Riding ATVs can be an enjoyable form of outdoor recreation when done properly.

In addition to the information provided in this booklet, it is important to carefully read and follow the instructions and warnings contained in the ATV owner's manual and labels. ATVs handle differently from other vehicles, such as motorcycles and cars. Proper instruction and practice are important. The ATV Rider Course, a half-day hands-on training program, is available nationwide. Anyone who purchased a new ATV after December 30, 1986, and everyone in the purchaser's immediate family who is in the recommended age group for the ATV purchased, is entitled to take a training course at no additional charge. Others can take the training course for a small fee. Individuals who purchased a new ATV after April 28, 1988, will be entitled to a $50.00 incentive check upon completion of the course. Limit one incentive per ATV purchased. Ask an authorized ATV dealer for the details or call 1-800-887-2887 for training information. We recommend you take advantage of the free training program, and perform the exercises in this booklet.

ICE CONDITIONS AND TRIP ITINERARY

ICE CONDITIONS

“Thick and blue, tried and true.
Thin and crispy, way to risky.”

The ice traveler should look for bluish ice that is at least 4 to 6 inches thick, in order to support people and their gear. Even if the weather has been below freezing for several days, don't guess about ice thickness. Check ice in several places. Use an auger, spud, or axe to make a test hole beginning at shore and continuing as you go out.

If ice at the shoreline is cracked or squishy, stay off. Don't go on the ice during thaws. Watch out for thin, clear, or honeycomb-shaped ice. Dark snow and dark ice are other signs of weak spots.

Choose small bodies of water. Rivers and lakes are prone to wind and wave action, which can break ice up quickly. Avoid areas with currents, around bridges, and pressure ridges.

WHAT IF I BREAK THROUGH THE ICE?

- If you break through the ice, don't panic.
- Don't try to climb out, you'll probably break through the ice again.
- Lay both arms on the unbroken ice and kick hard. This will help lift your body onto the ice. Roll to safety.
- To help someone who has fallen in, lie down flat and reach with a branch, plank, or rope; or form a human chain. Don't stand. After securing the victim, wiggle backwards to the solid ice.
- The victim may need treatment of hypothermia (cold exposure), artificial respiration, or CPR.
- “If your feet are cold, put on your hat.” That may seem odd, but it's good advice. Most body heat is lost through the head and neck. So wear a hat, cover your face and neck.
- Dress in layers. Wool, silk, and certain synthetics are best; they'll keep you warm even if they're wet. Insulated, waterproof boots, gloves, and a windbreaker are very important. Take extra clothing.

ICE THICKNESS

In the wintertime, outdoor enthusiasts frequently need to know how thick the ice is and whether it is safe to walk across it. The American Pulpwood Association has published a handy reference chart that gives a good rule-of-thumb for pond and lake ice thickness.

This table is for clear, blue ice on lakes. Reduce the strength values by 15% for clear blue river ice. Slush ice is only one-half the strength of blue ice. This table does not apply for parked loads.

ICE THICKNESS (IN INCHES)	PERMISSABLE LOAD ON CLEAR, BLUE LAKE ICE. (REDUCE STRENGTH VALUES FOR OTHER TYPES OF ICE.)
2"	One person on foot
3"	Group of people (walking single file)
7½"	Passenger Car (2 ton gross)
8"	Light Truck (2½ ton gross)
10"	Medium Truck (3½ ton gross)
12"	Heavy Truck (7–8 ton gross)
15"	Heavy Truck (10 ton gross)
20"	25 tons
25"	45 tons
30"	70 tons
36"	110 tons

LET SOMEONE KNOW BEFORE YOU GO!

The Maine Warden Service is responsible for lost and missing persons. Often, the Warden Service is called to search for persons who really are not lost or missing, which results in spending many unnecessary hours of effort by wardens. You can help us help you by filling out this trip itinerary and leaving it on your door or under the wiper of your vehicle. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.
